The idea of the grand Lithuanian Language Dictionary was conceived (and its compilation begun) by K. Būga (1879–1924). The beginning of the Lithuanian Language Dictionary was in 1924 when the first fascicle of Būga's Dictionary was published. So the international scientific conference "Comprehensive dictionaries in junction of centuries" is dedicated to commemorate this important event for the Lithuanian Language.

The aim of the conference is to bring both Lithuanian and foreign linguists who are working in the defining lexicography field. The programme of the conference includes presentations about K. Būga's lexicography inheritance, structural features of comprehensive dictionaries, development of dictionaries databases, development within lexicography which depends on historical factors and new technologies.
